

Mesh Wi-Fi Keeps Your Whole Home Covered

Mesh is a Whole Home Wi-Fi system built to eliminate dead zones and provide uninterrupted wireless coverage throughout your home. While traditional routers broadcast Wi-Fi from a single point with a limited range, mesh Wi-Fi systems have multiple access points. When one unit links to the modem, that unit becomes the main hub. The other units (pods) capture and rebroadcast the router's signal at full strength.

The result is an efficient wireless network that provides a stable connection no matter where you are. A mesh system enables devices in your network to have faster speeds, greater coverage, and a more reliable connection than you would get by adding Wi-Fi extenders to a traditional router.

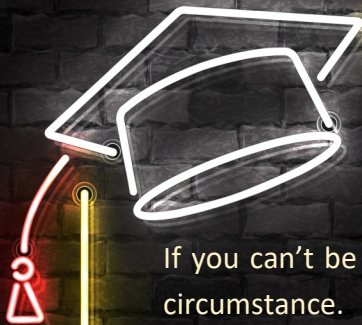

LightTube offers mesh Wi-Fi for less than $12 a month. For larger homes, additional pods are available at minimum cost.

For the best complete-home coverage with the highest speeds possible, consider upgrading to LightTube's Mesh Wi-Fi system.
