Store More of Your Favorite Shows with Cloud DVR

Why should I switch to Cloud DVR?

Standard DVR relies on the hard drive inside your set-top box, which means your programming is only as safe as the lifespan of that hard drive; and without additional services, you can only watch programming that was recorded on a standard DVR from the television connected to that box. With Cloud DVR, you can play back recorded programming from any LightTube set-top box in your home.

How is that different from Whole Home DVR?

Whole Home DVR is an added service that relies on the hard drive in your set-top box; and if that box fails you lose all of your saved programming. With Cloud DVR, programming is saved remotely—and you start with 500GB of storage space. That's more than 75 hours of HD programming, or hundreds of hours in standard definition.

How many shows can I record at once?

You can record up to eight programs at one time, all while watching something else! With standard DVR, you can record only two programs at a time. Cloud DVR users experience conflict-free recording.

Which channels can I record with Cloud DVR?

All of them! Cloud DVR functionality is available on all LightTube channels, including local content. Like standard DVR, Cloud DVR allows you to set one-time recordings or series recordings to watch at your convenience.

Is it more expensive?

No! In fact, if you currently subscribe to our Whole Home DVR service, you'll actually save money by making the switch! With Cloud DVR, the "whole home" experience is included.

How do I sign up?

Call one of our customer service representatives at 455-4515 and tell them you want Cloud DVR. They will arrange a convenient time to stop by to swap out your old DVR with a newer, smaller set-top box.

Keeping You Up To Speed

Home for the Hall of Fame

In February, our very own Scott Shasteen (left) became the first member of the media to be inducted into the Tullahoma Sports Council Hall of Fame.

Scott has been broadcasting Tullahoma sports since first taking the mic for a THS football game on Boogie 93 FM in 1984. He's been the voice of the THS Wildcats ever since: on the radio, in print, and on television.

Scott brought his talents to the LightTube Sports Network, Channel 23, roughly 10 years ago. He says his favorite memory over his 40 year career was calling the 2021 THS state football championship for LightTube!
